1. Youth Study - (DD/S 72-1072 dtd 24 Mar 72) - While we do not owe WEC anything specific on this subject, he obviously is very interested in the work being done by the Human Resources Study Group and can be expected from time to time to request information about employee attitudes and related matters. In fact, I believe the Director early-on assigned WEC the responsibility for reporting to him periodically on employee attitudes and opinions. OMS may be one of his principal sources on this information, and we should anticipate his queries by continuing examination and study of these matters.

2. How To Reduce Incidence of Coronaries in the Agency and Overweight Employees - (DD/S 72-2247 dtd June 72; DD/S 72-2235 dtd June 72) - In view of the Director's interest in this matter, we can expect that WEC will periodically ask what DD/S is doing about it. We should probably have OMS prepare a study with recommendations that would encourage and perhaps assist people with weight and related problems. Initial response due from OMS on 19 June.

Remarks:

Thank you for this memorandum.

As I believe you are aware, I have two thoughts in mind with respect to overweight employees:

- 1) The effect on their general health.
- 2) The appearance of obese individuals walking the halls.

On this latter point, it is difficult to square the image of a hard-working, energetic organization with individuals who carry around fat bellies.
